

Furr
Shui
Purr
Shui
Purr

Expurrted from the book: "Fur Shui™"

Brought to you by: The Black Cat School of Feng Shui!

Book intro "snippet"

Feng Shui Masters Disguised as Animals

Hot chi dogs, black hat cats, our furry, feathered, sometimes scale covered, sometimes finned, two to four legged friends are all a menagerie of chi masters we call pets.

The Chinese have defined our life force energy as "chi". Everything has it and it is proper and good to keep it flowing and healthy at all times....

Pets sing, talk, snooze, play and move about and along with them so does chi!...

Chirping Chi

Copyright © 2008 by Paula Brown

Fur Shui™ 2007 All rights reserved. Fur Shui is the trademark of Paula Brown, © 2008 All rights reserved. The entire content of this site are protected by the United States and International copyright laws.

The contents may not be reproduced, transmitted in whole or part or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without prior consent from the author. Note from my lowers(s): "Copyright infringement cases award triple damages, so it's worthwhile to prosecute."

"Fur Shui": ALL RIGHTS RESERVED. No part of this book may be reproduced or transmitted in any form by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying and recording, or by any information storage and retrieval system, except as may be expressly permitted in writing from the publisher. Requests for permission should be addressed to The Lyons Press, Attn: Rights and Permissions Department, P.O. Box 480, Guilford, CT 06437.

The Lyons Press is an imprint of The Globe Pequot Press.